

Hello from Ken Brown in Texas.....

You probably know me for Calligraphy at Hunt Speedball and more recently.....since 1999....at Plaid Enterprises. Perhaps you've seen me on Public Television or have my Calligraphy tapes and books.

I'll have a booth at the national show in Tampa in May. At the end of the convention, my wife and I are hoping to teach a Ken Brown Engraving Seminar while there. The maximum number of students is 10 for the 3-day Class.

The reason for my letter is to get some feedback from various chapters and see if there is enough interest to book a hotel meeting room and conduct the Seminar. We need to fill the class to make it worthwhile.

As you may know, we've been teaching a very limited number of people since 2001. Our students earn amazing fees for their personalization of glass, crystal, porcelain, metal, and wood. When a painter can engrave an item, then embellish it with engraved words....on almost any surface....the value of the piece is often multiplied many times.

If you've made it to here, look at our site and see what other students and I have done. It's quite easy to earn a hundred dollars an hour. My own average, when I'm engraving for the public and businesses, is often three times that. You'll see it on the site with some of the photos. The cost of the Seminar and equipment is thirty-two hundred dollars with an optional, at extra cost, Certification Program by email. All the details are on our site listed below.

Please let others know about this great offer for a Tampa Seminar by way of newsletter or letting others in your painting chapter know. Or feel free to call anyone you feel may have an interest.

If there is someone in the Tampa area who would like to help coordinate some of the details ahead of time, I'd like to discuss that and offer a hefty discount on the Seminar for that person's help.

Here is the link to our site. <http://kenbrown.com/>

Please call me if you have any thoughts or want more information. If 10 sign on within the next 3 weeks, we'll bring our Seminar to Tampa.

Hoping to hear from you.....

All the best,

Ken Brown
800.654.610